

NCERY SALES.

[illegible]

The Charleston Convention.

We publish this morning's special telegraphic column as has been sent forward by the reporters for the Associated Press. It will be seen that the Charleston Convention, which was held at New York, has been adjourned until the 10th of May.

The regular Douglas delegation from Illinois, who represent the democracy of the State, have also obtained their seats and the Danites are excluded.

The signs of the times indicate the nomination of Douglas. New York and South Carolina will support him.

The platform is to be made clear and explicit—to bear to one interpretation. The work of the Convention is yet to be done—the platform to be made and the balloting to be had. We shall await with anxiety further proceedings.

The attention of this active members of the secretory.

Official Vote.—The following is the official count of the vote for Governor in Charleston, South Carolina, April 14, 1859.

Every one should hear the lecture of Rev. T. A. Hoyt, at the Methodist church to-night at 7 o'clock. Subject—"Relations of the Bible to Law and Language." Tickets 25 cents.

We call attention to the advertisement in this paper, of the sale of property on Main and Preston streets, an assortment of tobacco, cigars, etc., by virtue of a decree in chancery. The property will be sold on favorable terms.

Jack Sanson, a slave of Robt Ward, Esq., of Woodford, was tried at the recent term of Mercer Circuit Court, for attempting to kill the person of a young white girl in Anderson county, and was found guilty.

Funeral Notice.—The United Sons of Erin are requested to assemble at their hall, this day, (the 20th inst.) at two o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of attending the funeral of their brother, Thomas Cochran. A full attendance is requested.

Exhibit No. 187.—Held at the brick yard above Preston, on Breckinridge street, over the body of Dennis, (colored) about 29 years of age. Verdict.—Came to his death on the evening of the 20th inst., from hemorrhage of the lungs.

The Mayville Eagle says that the tobacco plants are coming up finely. We learn that a dispatch has been received by ship, of a sale of revenue tobacco, at New Orleans. Prices have not yet transpired.

Fourteen Judges are to be elected in the State of Virginia on the fourth Thursday of May next. The whole number of circuits and counties in the State is twenty-one, so that elections will be held this year in all but seven.

We direct attention to the card in another column of Mr. David Nevins. Mr. Nevins offers great inducements to persons wishing to engage in the marble business. Mr. Nevins intends leaving the city, and offers his stock, which is very large, at low prices. Now is your chance for a speculation.

The fire at Jeffersonville.—The fire at Jeffersonville, mentioned in yesterday's Democrat, destroyed not only the foundry, but also the blacksmith shop, of Mr. Anderson, and not of Mr. Gresham, above the railroad depot. The loss is over $6,000. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The city was very quiet last night. The police were having a quiet time, but at a late hour enthusiastic political partisans were rather noisy and disposed to sporting. The National Convention is all talk. Some said was going to tell the nomination—now one ticket, now another. Many a score of people have been sold by these jokers.

All through the city new pavements are being laid down. Improvements are general, and Louisville is growing beyond all precedent. On every street in town new buildings are in process of erection or completion. With the return of quiet and business energy, the city is growing into the strength and vastness her position entitles her to.

Those of our readers wishing to purchase unimproved real estate, will bear in mind Mr. C. C. Spencer's sale this afternoon of ninety-two lots in T. Y. Brent's addition to the city. This property, we learn, is to be sold wholly without reserve, and presents a rare chance for a fine speculation. The terms are liberal, and the sale will commence on Broadway, near the Deargrass bridge.

Captain Thomas Wright has arrived from Arkansas. We understand that the Craig will case was tried and the jury rendered a verdict sustaining the will, says the Bulletin. Afterwards a compromise was effected between the contesting parties, by which Miss Wright receives $200,000, the college at Helena $100,000, and Mr. W. P. Halliday, who was appointed administrator, $30,000—the remainder of the estate to be divided among the natural heirs of the deceased.

Three persons were lately arrested and judged to be lunatics, because they tried to enter the palace and call on Napoleon. One was a commercial clerk who desired to say good morning to his Majesty, and to present him a copy of a work on the physical constitution of the globe; he was at once given up to the police. The second was a farmer, who wished to show the Emperor some remarkable turnips. The third was a cook, with a patent method of roasting fowls.

The City Court was held yesterday: Frank Tully, Pat. Duffy, James Adams, and Elizabeth Brady, drunk and disorderly; Duffy's own bond taken, and the others sent to the workhouse in default of giving bail. Commonwealth vs. J. Vandervelde vs. A. Strauss and wife, peace warrant; own bond taken and two hundred dollars in recognizance. Commonwealth vs. Samuel Hart vs. William Colvin, peace warrant; bail in two hundred dollars for four months. Theres Schoen; inquest of lunacy.

An infernal machine was placed at the door of Mrs. Bradley, living in New Albany, a few nights ago, by some fiend for the purpose, no doubt, of blowing the house up. The machine consisted of a box containing a bottle of powder and other articles, but from some cause the fire, which was made near it, failed to communicate to the powder. The lady has the machine, and instead of being injured has gained the worth of the powder contained in the box. The second would thus lay a plot to injure a helpless woman should be haunted until the day of his death.

The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

THEATRE.—The play of Money was as successful as could have been hoped for. Mr. Murdoch's performance as Evelyn was not and never will be, the most successful critic. The last act was especially excellent. Mr. Elmore also won golden opinions as the melancholy Graves. To-night Mr. Murdoch appears in his great character of Young Mirchob. In this, as in Hamlet, he stands alone and unsurpassable. It is the most pleasing of all his characters, and never fails to attract crowded houses. The pleasure of the audience was greatly marred last evening by the loud talking and laughter of certain young gentlemen, and even ladies, who were sorry to be, who certainly paid for their tickets at the door, but, as certainly, deprived others of the enjoyment of those for which they had paid the same price. This is not our idea of good breeding.

The Adams Express delivered us Cincinnati papers of the morning, at half past one o'clock yesterday.

KAMEHAMEHA IV. LEAVING EUCLER.—A correspondent of the Alta California furnishes that paper a glowing account of a ball given by the Honolulu Rifles to the Japanese Embassy, during their visit to the Sandwich Islands, and adds:

Approach of officers, it is reported that two of the highest officers of the Rifles played a game of euhura, to see who would foot the bill for their ball, and Thomas Spencer, Esq., the first lieutenant, was the victor, the fortunate party who escaped being a no less distinguished individual than the colonel of the company—his Majesty Kamehameha IV.

ARIZONA TERRITORIAL ORGANIZATION.—A convention of thirty-one delegates, representing all parts of Arizona, met at Tucson on the 24th, and formally organized as a Territorial Government. A bill of rights and a constitution were adopted, and the following named gentlemen were elected as Territorial officers:

L. S. Orwings, Governor; Ignacio Oraniza, Lieutenant-Governor; James A. Lucas, Secretary; M. Aldrich, Treasurer; J. H. Wells, Comptroller; R. C. Hart, Attorney-General; J. H. Wells, Judge First Judicial District; G. H. Oyer, Judge Second Judicial District; E. M. Green, Judge Third Judicial District; B. V. Neal, Attorney-General.

Railroad Matters.—We publish the change of time for the departure and arrival of trains on the Frankfort and Lexington road this morning.

The following table shows the earnings of the New York and Erie for six months past, as compared with the same period of last year. The figures show a gratifying increase, which promises more satisfactory results for the present month:

Month. 1858. 1859.
October. $109,600. $125,000.
November. 100,000. 110,000.
December. 100,000. 110,000.
January. 100,000. 110,000.
February. 100,000. 110,000.
March. 100,000. 110,000.

Genius Schiedman Schnapps.—Dr. Vanover's Schiedman Schnapps, the undersigned has made an arrangement with John M. Schiedman, Esq., of New York, to sell the same in this city, and to introduce it to the public. It is a pure and healthy beverage, and is sold by all respectable dealers in liquors.

It is stated that, from Cincinnati, an agent has been taking several hundred hogsheads of meat at reduced rates, viz: 45 cents per hundred.

Nashville and Northern Road.—We published recently a notice of the road of which we have been furnished the following correction from an authentic source:

The Nashville and Northwestern Railroad runs to Hickman, Ky., (on the Mississippi river), and not to Paducah. It is about 170 miles long, and connects at Hickman with the Mississippi Central Railroad, near Paris, with the Memphis and Ohio Railroad, and at the latter city with the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. Thirty-five miles of the road are completed at the West end, and track-laying is rapidly progressing from the Mississippi river towards Nashville. Ten miles at the Eastern end near Nashville are graded, and track-laying will commence in a few days. The grading has been let on the whole road for twenty-five miles of light work near Tennessee river. This road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

We learn from the Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

The Nashville American that the grading of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, on the Eastern end, has been completed. The road will be one of the most important in the State, as it will form the most direct Southern connection with the system of roads centering in Nashville.

